'Finian's Rainbow' to Run Through Saturday Night

Tonight marks the second performance of this year's spring musical, "Finian's Rainbow." The show is slated for its third presentation tomorrow at 8:30 p.m.

The E. Y. Harburg and Fred Saidy musical is a University Theater production in cooperation with the Music and Women's P. E. departments.

Costumes Vary

"I think it's a good show," comments Dr. Edwin L. Clark, director. "The songs are good, vocalists are competent, it's colorful, and the dancing is terrific. With this combination you can't avoid enjoying a pleasant evening."

Costumes for the production range from very loud zoot suits to just as colorful formal.

The musical features 28 students in the cast plus 20 chorus members and 14 dancers.

Other students are working behind the scenes. Jerry Emery is stage manager and Marlene Hoffman, assistant director.

Chuck Christy, Sandy Dungan, and Nancy Land are in charge of lights; Patty Burns, props; Jerry Larson, curtains; and Dorothy Smith, costumes. Joan Schroeder submitted the design for scenery.

Students Need Activity Cards

Students who find they are unable to use their reserve seat tickets should return them to the box office immediately.

Students are also instructed to show their activity cards to the doorman before the performance.

Last year, the University Theater produced "Oklahoma!" the year before, "Brigadoon."

Tickets Available

Tickets are still available for the musical, "Finian's Rainbow." Full-time students at OU may obtain tickets by presenting their student activity card at the box office. Additional tickets may be obtained for one dollar. Reserve seat tickets not claimed by 8 p.m. of the performance will be released to anyone wishing a seat.

"Finian," Paul Dolan, brings his daughter "Sharon," Pat Kavan, together with "Woody," Hugh Allen.

Dean Helmstadter Exemplifies Successful College Leader

By Joe McCartney

December 1941 . . . The College of Applied Arts and Sciences has been added to the University of Omaha curriculum under Dean C. W. Helmstadter. This is the second college on the campus and one that is vitally necessary for the University's success.

When Applied Arts first came on the campus it included only engineering, home economics, and journalism. It has grown to include nursing, military science, medical technology, and the technical institute.

Well Qualified for Deanship

Dean Helmstadter graduated from Beatrice high in 1919 and taught and coached in high schools for five years. A graduate of Nebraska University with an A. B. in 1924, Dean Helmstadter acquired his M. A. from Nebraska in 1929. His final degree was a PhD from Iowa University in 1936.

Success Runs in Family

The father of three children, his oldest son, Gerald, has a PhD from the University of Minnesota in theoretical psychology; his oldest daughter, Vernita, is working for an M. A. at Washington University. Finishing the trio is the Dean's youngest son, John, who will graduate from Benson this year and plans to major in engineering at Iowa State.

With his many responsibilities,

Dean Helmstadter . . . busy man.

the Dean still finds time during the summer to fish and sail in Minnesota. His mixture of work at work and rest only when necessary meant success for Dean Helmstadter's family, his college, and will go on meanin gsuccess for his students.

Questions Arise On Honor System

I. P.-Suggested procedures for studying the much-debated honor system at Goucher College, Towson, Md., were presented recently to the Student Organization. The procedural suggestions, drawn up by a volunteer committee, deal only with the honor system itself, not with specific social regulations.

The committee has asked the Student Organization to debate several questions in order to decide whether to keep the double honor system, adapt a single system, or scrap the whole thing.

The question include: 1. Why do we have social regulations? What are the advantages of an honor system?

2. Definition and merits of the double honor system.

3. Pros and Cons of Single Honor System.

4. Description of Judicial Board and its legislative and judicial powers. Is punishment useful? Why are some cases passed on to the discipline committee?

After these questions are discussed by the Student Organization, the committee wants them referred to dormitory discussion. Next, questionnaires would be distributed to all students and, finally, a mass meeting would consider the questions.

Editorially Speaking . . .

Are You?

Are you in the know about your University and the services it offers? Student benefits come from your University in many forms, and one of these is the student counselling service.

Each year pre-registration week arrives bringing with it hoards of students who swarm upon the counsellors and deluge them with dozens of questions.

Students aren't to be criticized for asking questions, but do they all have to come during the pre-registration rush? Counsellor's free hours are posted on the outside of their doors, and the list should be consulted during the entire semester, rather than just during this one period.

OU's counselling service is NOT volunteered by instructors who have time to kill. It is done by instructors who have been especially trained to help students with their pre-graduation problems.

Even though your counsellor has special training in education problems, the or she shouldn't be expected to map out your college class program step by step. Except in special cases, your class requirements are listed in the University Catalog, available in the Registrar's Office at no cost.

Before seeing your counsellor, check the requirements for graduation and plan a possible schedule for the following semester. Then make an appointment with your counsellor. If all steps have been carried out carefully, very little time will be required to have your class schedule okayed and signed. And you're on your way—to a new semester—and a well-earned degree!

There is a story told of a somewhat tipsy man who piled into a crowded bus, and lurched into a seat beside a priest. He sat for a few minutes, blearily eying the priest, who was reading his Office. Then suddenly he said in a loud voice: "I ain't going to heaven, because there ain't no heaven! Now what do you say, padre?" The priest replied: "Well, go to hell then, but do be quiet about it.—Clare Booth Luce.

OU Encourages Interest in Writing

Who will be contributing to tomorrow's great literature? Can America "find" another Melville or Hemingway?

Many of today's critics and authors believe that the American university is now producing and will continue to produce the men and women of tomorrow's literary world.

And with the establishment of university literary centers, such as the University of Iowa and the University of Southern California, promising writers are graduating with degrees in creative writing.

No Claim as Center

Although Omaha University's English department doesn't hold claims to being a writing center, opportunities are available to the student interested in creative writing. A Bachelor of Arts degree in English is given in the field of creative writing.

To facilitate student writers, a creative writing lab has been set up in the Eppley Memorial Library for all writing classes. The room is located in the west wing of the library and houses volumes of short stories such as "The Best American Short Stories" series. Copies of "The Writer's Market" and "The Writer's Handbook" are also found here. The west wing of the first floor provides the writer a secondary laboratory, for all volumes of American and English literature are located here.

Various Courses Available

Student writers may take Expository Writing, a course in general writing techniques and style. A junior course, narrative writing, offers students' opportunities for creative writing with emphasis on the short story. The senior course, advanced composition, covers varied types of writing, including fiction, poetry, and literary criticism.

Proving Ground

As a proving ground for the success of the student writers of Omaha University, the English Department sponsors a student literary magazine, "Grain of Sand."

How to Preserve A Husband

Be careful in your selection; do not choose too young, and take only such as have been reared in a good moral atmosphere. Some insist on keeping them in pickle, while others keep them in hot water.

This only makes them sour, hard and sometimes bitter. Even poor varieties may be made sweet, tender and good by garnishing them with patience, well-sweetened with smiles and flavored with kisses to taste; then wrap them in a mantle of charity, keep warm with a steady fire of domestic devotion and serve with peaches and cream. When thus prepared they will keep for years.

By Dorothy Loring and Carole Wickman

Here it is another weekend and so near vacation. Vacations always come precisely at the right time of year. Just when you feel like giving up the ship, a period of relaxation sails in and takes anchor.

Signs of spring are appearing from every corner of the campus, from the student center to the library. Boys have spring fever; and girls are sporting the result, over-large class rings and fraternity pins.

Spring also brings class cuts, mid-terms, vacation and especially the musical, "Finian's Rainbow." A local high school drama instructor told her students to be certain to come to OU's musical, better than most professional shows. If the sell-out crowd is any indication of the cast's ability, Dr. Clark and his team really deserve a big hand!

And the fashions at BRANDEIS really deserve a big hand, too.

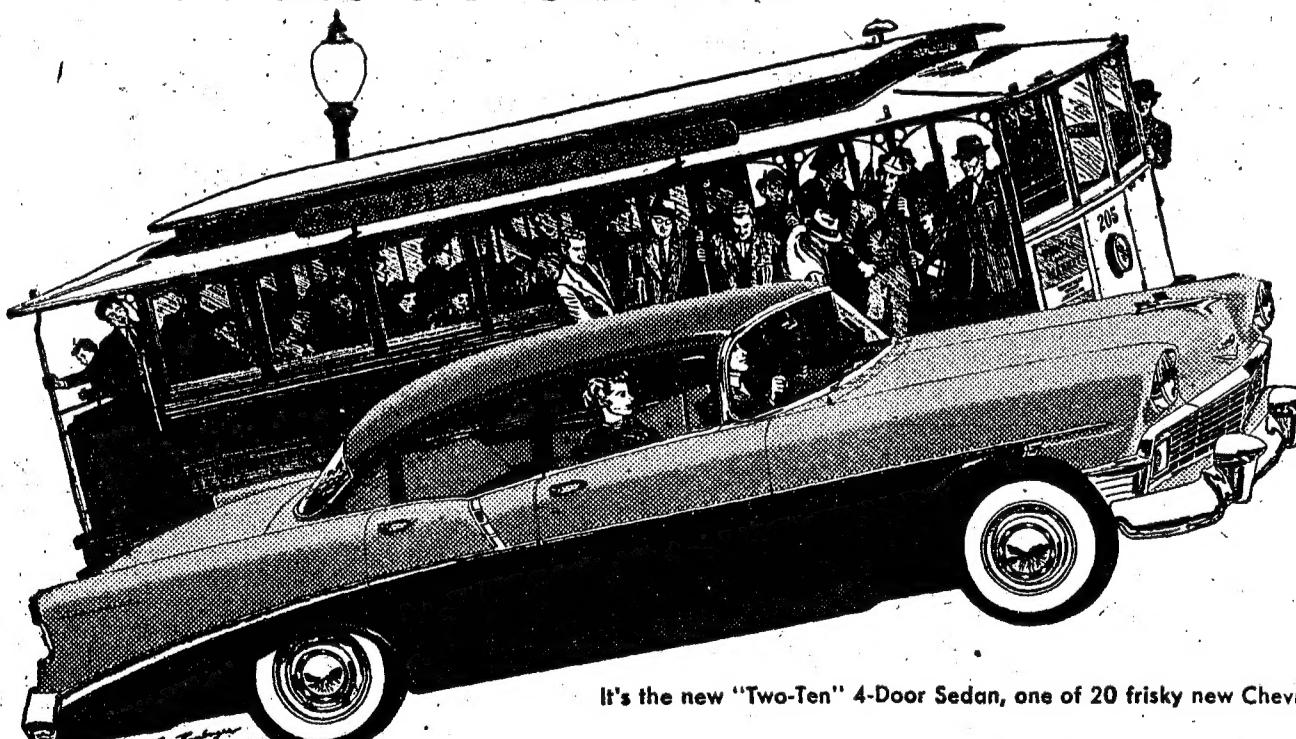

Watch this column for details on the forthcoming Junior Colony Style Show which will feature a group of Omaha U beauties as models.

The date of this event is Saturday, April 14! The list of models will be disclosed at a later date in both the GATEWAY and the Omaha World-Herald.

The Junior Colony is featuring an Omaha school and its models each Saturday in these style shows. Adv.

Students in the 1956 Summer Sessions will be the first to enjoy studying in the air-conditioned atmosphere of the new Gene Eppley Library.

'Why Shore!' Profs Do Things Besides Ruin

By Dick Paulson

"Don't professors have anything else to do besides ruin test papers with red pencil blotches?" asked an irate student after receiving an "F" on a "write your own name correctly" examination.

For the sake of that narrow-minded pipsqueak, the answer is an emphatic "Why, shore!"

To illustrate this point, thirty faculty and staff members meet each Thursday evening at the West Lanes bowling alleys.

A ten-team mixed league, with three bowlers to a squad, then begins to bowl.

Relief for Tensions

Although earth-shattering history is not made, the people who combat students, books, aches and ills, and rules and regulations during the day, find a happy outlet for relieving extreme tensions.

For professors, nurses, office administrators and policemen are just like students—human.

Therefore, relaxation is a must. And for some, it means even foregoing dinner.

With certain staff members enrolled in 7 o'clock classes, the evening meal must be sacrificed in order to maintain punctuality.

Executive Council

The executive members of the spirited weekly pow-wow are John Leonard, College of Business Administration, Secretary; Miss Kay Schaake, Women's Physical Education Director, Assistant-Secretary; and Nurse Beldora Tacke, Treasurer.

Miss Tacke said the league was formed in 1950. At that time, approximately fifteen people participated each week.

Since then, the size of the league has doubled. There is also an adequate number of dependable substitute bowlers available.

The individual averages vary considerably. The lowest is a not-too-bad 101, while the high mark at present is a lofty 168. This commendable average belongs to University Policeman Fred Blair.

Ample Chance for Humor

And there is always ample chance for humor and friendly needling of a fellow kegler.

This is best illustrated by one bowler's comment that he could take a nap while waiting for a certain woman's slow-ball to strike the pins.

As usual, the gal with the tortoise-type toss has the last word. She fashions one of the league's better averages.

All teams bear appropriate faculty-staff names. (At least from a student's viewpoint).

Blair Heads 'Hot Cops'

Policeman Blair captains the Hot Cops, but fortunately bowls without his gun.

Other teams include the Turks, Odd-Balls, Wood-Be's, Sewer Rats, Gutter Dusters, Jackson Jokers, Shockers, Pin Boys and the Hill Billies.

And though the Hill Billies are currently in first place, there is no sign of surrender by the rest of the league.

"Cause, sheeks, anybody knows it's easy to step on a hillbilly's toes!"

Nolte Honored

John Cameron Swayze, noted TV news commentator, has nothing on Omaha U's Adult Education Counselor, Mr. Roy Nolte. In February when Nolte was in Kansas City, Mo., Mayor H. Roy Bartlett presented Nolte with a gold replica of the key to the city. Some months ago, Swayze also received an identical key.

Director of food services Shirley Bastian revealed that OU students consume an average of 30 gallons of coffee (600 cups) a day. Whether creamer beats black is an unknown fact.

On soup days, bean soup runs a close second to chili, with chicken noodle offering keen competition.

The kitchen dishes out 20 to 25 gallons of soup a day.

Daily Coffee Run About 600 Cups In Students' Club

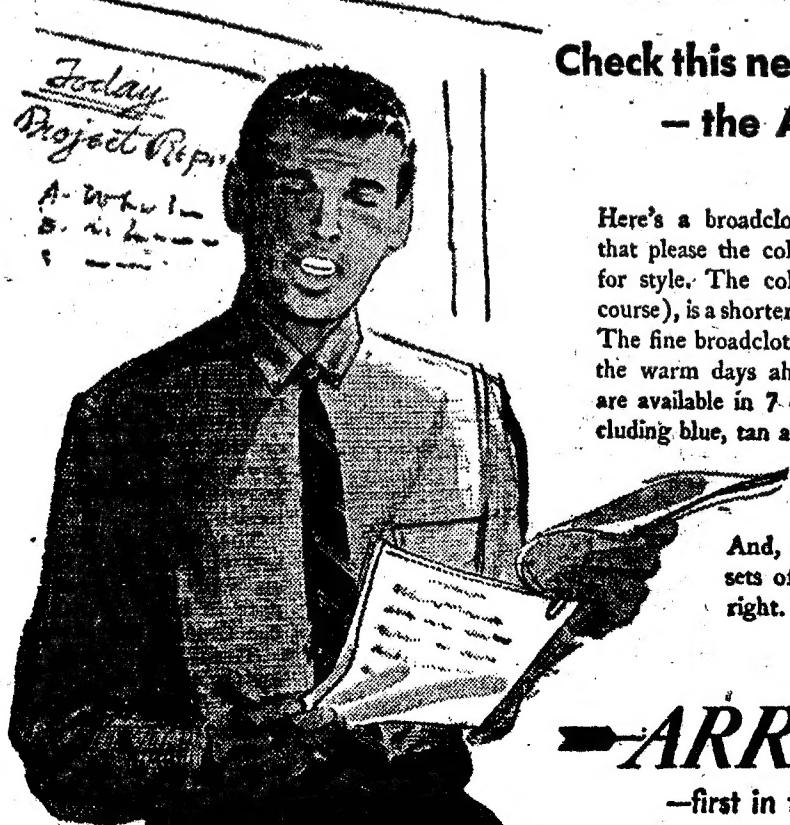

Vital statistics on the Student Club's daily business provide much food for thought. Each day 1,200 to 1,600 people are served.

Intramural Roundup

Volley ball is the latest addition to the men's Intramural sports program.

Only six teams have merged to form the 1956 league. This means valuable entry points will be lost by all teams not participating.

Among the absent entries are the Pawnees, who currently lead in total point garnering.

Theta Chi and Sigma Phi Epsilon have staked an early claim for top honors. Both teams have chalked up a pair of successive wins.

The same two teams also share the lead in the Interfraternity division with a single win apiece.

Mural Coach Ernie Gorr has declared a double round-robin type of play to be effected immediately after the spring vacation layoff.

Diamond Delay Keeps Practice In

Baseball Coach Virgil Yelkin reports that practice has been confined to the Fieldhouse. This is due to the reconstruction work being done on the diamond northwest of the Fieldhouse.

If weather permits, the team should be able to move outside before spring vacation.

Yelkin added he'll have a better chance to size up the boys after a few outside scrimmages.

Due to the cramped conditions in the Fieldhouse progress is slow, Yelkin said. Conditioning exercises and fundamentals have been the extent of the workouts, although some batting practice is being taken outside.

May Toss Hoss Shoes

Another idea Mr. Gorr has been considering is to revive the antiquated, but nevertheless challenging, sport of horsé shoe tossing.

Regulation throwing pits would be installed in the outside vicinity of the Field House.

Trophies would be awarded individual and doubles-play winners.

Alumni Donate Furniture, Books to Library; Circulation Up 1,000 Volumes Per Week

By Bill Wolcott

The Gene Eppley Library has gained another feather in its well-plumed cap with the arrival of the lobby furniture.

The gift, from the Library Gift Division of the Alumni Fund, is custom-made, full grained leather chairs. Done in coral and green, two chairs and a table are built on each base. There are three sets.

Alpha Sig Alums Donate $200

Also, the alumni of Alpha Sigma Lambda (now Sigma Phi Epsilon), donated $200 to the Library for books. Miss Ellen Lord, head librarian, expects to meet with the group and decide on the books this month.

In addition to the furniture and books, the Alumni Association had previously donated the plant urns, which have already gained publicity through the antics of "Herman" the conglomeration of plants just outside Miss Lord's office.

A plaque commemorating the gifts of the Alumni Association will be placed in the lobby in the near future.

Committee on Pictures

A committee headed by Dr. Berthe Koch, head of the Art Department, has been trying to find suitable pictures for the Library. The first pictures were hung last week on the south wall of the reading room, and more are scheduled to arrive soon.

"Not only is the library progressing in physical appearance," said Miss Lord, "but students use is continuing in an increasing amount. Circulation is currently averaging 1,000 volumes per week higher than last year. This circulation is in the general field rather than in reserve usage. This reflects better student use of the library, and a wider interest in books due to the open shelves and easy accessibility."

30 Students Submit Contest Applications For Essay Competition

Thirty applications were received by the Dean of Students office for the Philip Sherer Essay Contest.

Deadline for submitting the essay is April 9. Winner of the contest, which awards a $250 scholarship, will be announced at the annual Honors Day Convocation.

The essays should be submitted to Dr. Robert Harper, professor of English. They will be judged by Dr. Thomas Bonner, associate professor of history, Dr. Duane Hill, instructor of government and Dr. Paul Rodgers, assistant professor of English.

Information concerning the form of the essays can be obtained from an official folder which can be secured from contest judges.

"Response to the contest is much better than last year's," reports Dr. Harper.

Women PE Majors Give Square Dance

Editors To Select Winning Entries

Student editors of "Grain of Sand," OU literary magazine will meet Sunday to choose winners of the high school literary contest. Their selections will be announced in the next issue of the GATEWAY.

The winning high school short story and poem will appear in this semester's issue of "Grain of Sand." "The number of high school entries was encouraging," commented "Grain of Sand" editor Wendell Walker. "I'm sure the winning contributions will be a good representation of high school creative writing."

The entries were submitted without the author's names to prevent any discrimination during judging. Only the high school teachers know the identity of the entries' authors.

City Commission Offers Summer Jobs in Parks

The Omaha Park and Recreation Commission is now recruiting summer employees. Applications are being taken for playground supervisors and assistants, swimming pool managers, swimming pool cashiers, and lifeguards. All applicants should be at least 18 years old. All inquiries may be addressed to Robert Ackerman, 605 City Hall, Atlantic 8122.

Easter Convocation

"Thou with me shalt today in Paradise be."

The last phrase Jesus utters is "Father, my spirit I command into Thy hands." The congregation concluded the message with, "Ye who honor the woes of God and oft recall His Seven Words will find your God."

A woodwind quintet will repeat the melody in a symphony between the chorus parts. Members of the quintet are Ralph Osborn, flute; Steve Mickna, oboe; Bob Lach, clarinet; Shirley Allen, French horn, and Lois Proffit, bassoon.

Marcia Wetzer and Jess Sutton will play a violin accompaniment on the soloist parts. John Miller, director of the program, will accompany the evangelists on the piano.

The University choir will present five other songs at the convocation. The Latin "Adoramus Te" will be sung with Madrigal Singers echoing the choir phrases.

In Bach's "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring" Nancy Yates and Jo Elyn Wakefield will accompany on the cello and piano. Bill Jurgens will sing the solo in "There is a Balm in Gilead" by Dawson.

"The Story of the Twelve" by Scott and "Praise to the Lord" by Christiansen will complete the program.
